L.J. FAMILY

WHEN I READ THIS LETTER BY MY WIFE IT BROUGHT TEARS TO MY EYES, THANK YOU LORD FOR REBECCA

The horse is prepared against the day of battle: but safety is of the LORD.

Proverbs 21:31

Over the last two months we have seemed to be in a constant struggle against Satan's attacks on us here at the mission. Mostly related to health. We have four kids in the house now, including my sister's two year old little boy, Jered, and as anyone with kids would know once one gets sick it's only a matter of time before he/her "shares" his/her sickness with the next kid. It seemed that for over a month at least one if not all the members of this household was suffering from some sort of illness.

The most alarming incident...

One of the more alarming incidents was when a very high fever hit the kids with no other apparent side effects. It hit Jered first and when Megan realized it was getting dangerously high (remember we have no AC) she stripped him of his clothes and took him outside hoping he'd cool down because of the nice breeze that was coming in from off the lagoon. She had only been outside a couple of minutes when she came racing back in with Jered in her arms screaming in a voice of panic, "Becca, he's not breathing! He's not breathing, do something!" His fever had gotten so high it had induced a seizure, I immediately had her hold him under the hose while I ran cool water over his body getting his temperature down. After about 20 seconds he started to breathe again and then after a few more seconds he would respond when we spoke to him. I am ashamed to say that although I might have appeared calm to Megan, on the inside I was screaming in that same panicked voice. But praise God! Jered and the rest of our family are doing fine now thanks to the grace and mercy of God, and about two weeks after that very scary incident with Jered we decided to walk around the entire mission and just pray for not only protection against the constant attacks from Satan but also to thank God for how much He has given us. Since then things have settled down considerably and it truly humbles me when I think about how much God does for us when we just take the time to ask. I shared the Proverb at the beginning of this newsletter because since then it has been on my heart constantly. What does it mean for a Christian to prepare for battle? What can we do to get ready for the attacks that we know will come from Satan? PRAY!!! It shames me how much I take prayer for granted, how much I take God for granted. How often I think in the back of my mind, "God already knows what I need I don't have to get to specific." And it is true, God does know what we need even before we know. Sometimes He has even provided before the need arises. But it shames me that sometimes I use that as an excuse not to pray as persistently, or as desperately. I share this story to let you know how much your prayers truly help encourage and protect us. We truly appreciate having brothers and sisters in Christ preparing for battle with us even though they are not physically present.

Pray for the bible students, most of them have a family, church, farms, and this class on top of it all.

In other news Nathan has been taking a seminary course that he is also teaching to a few others in our area. He travels once a week for a class and then has a class here on Saturdays. It has changed our schedule around quite a lot but with the changes we have been learning how to take advantage of every moment of everyday and although it can be difficult at times it is also very rewarding.

Please continue to pray for that the school can function fully and effectively without us. We are still involved with running it but since we feel God calling us to move further up the coast in the next couple of years we would like to leave knowing that the school will continue to run after we have gone.

AGAIN THANK YOU SO MUCH

Thank you so much for all you do to encourage and support us in our work here. It brightens up our day when we hear of the people who take time to pray for us here and we hope you know just how much your prayers help.
